CASE STUDY – UPGRADING TO VINCIWORKS LLMS PRO

PROBLEM

A leading global law firm, with offices in 11 countries, approached VinciWorks with a problem. Their employees are required to complete mandatory AML training annually, but the training completion rates were alarmingly low.

Despite deployment of an online training system, the compliance officer was dismayed that 3 months after enrolment, only 13.6% of employees completed mandatory training.

The compliance officer is a fee earner at the firm, and did not have the resources or time to chase after employees and follow up with non-compliant individuals.

SOLUTION

VinciWorks implemented the Pro edition of their Legal Learning Management System.

The Pro edition includes escalating "Nags" that automatically follow up with non-compliant employees and persist until they have completed all of their compliance training.

The Pro edition also features smart groups that automatically enrol employees into courses based on office location and job role.
