

User Data Integration

User Data Integration ensures that your data is always up to date!

VinciWorks is now offering seamless data integration between the Learning Management System (LMS) and your HR system enabling automatic updating of all user data. This frees up your administrators' time and lets you get the most out of your LMS.

Why is this important?

The training that VinciWorks provides fulfils regulatory and legislative requirements satisfying the obligation to train your staff. Having a clean set of up-to-date user data ensures all current staff are appropriately trained and recorded.

How does it work?

User data including new joiners, updating current staff profiles and deactivating leavers is automatically fed from your HR or other directory system directly into the LMS using secure web services integration. This can be set up to run overnight, guaranteeing that your data is current and accurate every day.

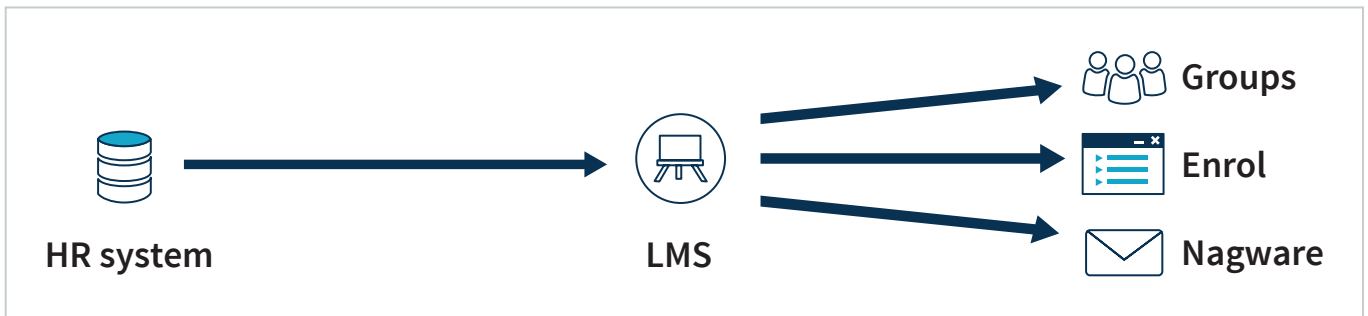

You can also set up a regular schedule to securely transmit the data extracted from your HR system via an Excel spreadsheet to VinciWorks. We will then process and update the data on your behalf.

Getting the most out of your LMS

User Data Integration combined with VinciWorks LMS Groups and Nagware functionality automates the entire training administrative process, improving efficiency and reducing costs to deliver training compliance.

The Groups function in the LMS automatically sorts your users, based on their user profile fields, into logical training groups and dynamically enrolls the right users, at the right time, into the right courses or refreshers. VinciWorks' unique Nagware then automatically sends custom notification emails to users upon enrolment and as follow up to users who have not completed their training.

User data integration is the last piece in the puzzle, making training run like clockwork.
